

Dear Mr. President,

This entire administration is a bad joke. What are you doing? Is your goal to humiliate the entire country, or just the Republican party? You're not a conservative, and even when you pretend to be you do it so badly I feel like I'm watching a Kristen Stewart movie. I used to work for someone who could capture the energy of small minded sheep and lead them to support the principles he believed in. All you do is get the rabble excited without taking them anywhere. The only principles you know how to stand for are yourself. The biggest mistake this party ever made was letting you speak for us. Go back to New York and hide in your gaudy apartment.

Sincerely,

A member of your staff
